

The Little Foxes, That Spoil the Vines

by A.B. Simpson

We can have perfect peace in the midst of chaos by trusting in God's love and leadership.

Scripture: Psalm 32:3

Topics: "Biblical Silence", "Faith Obedience"

Description

Greek Word Studies delves into the meaning of 'sigao', which signifies being silent, holding one's peace, or keeping something secret. The concept is illustrated in various Bible verses, such as Luke 9:36 where Jesus' disciples kept silent about what they had seen. Romans 16:25 reveals a mystery that has been kept secret for long ages past but is now manifested through the Scriptures of the prophets, leading to obedience of faith.

Transcript

There are some things good without being perfect. You do not need to have a whole regiment firing outside your room to wake you. It is quite enough that your alarm clock rings. It is not necessary to fret about everything; it is quite enough if the devil gets your mind rasped with one little worry, one little thought which destroys your perfect peace. It is like the polish on an exquisite table top. One scratch will destroy it; and the finer it is, the smaller the scratch that will deface it. And so your rest can be destroyed by a very little thing. Perhaps you have trusted in God about your future salvation; have you trusted Him about your present business or earthly cares, your money and your family?

What is meant by the peace [that] passeth all understanding? (Philippians 4:7).

It does not mean a peace no one can comprehend. It means a peace no amount of reasoning will bring. You cannot get it by thinking. There may be perfect bewilderment and perplexity all around the horizon, yet your heart can rest in perfect security because God knows, He loves, He leads.
