

The Atoning Blood

by Andrew Bonar

Christ needed to demonstrate His power and authority through the atonement to show the extent of His love and grace.

Scripture: Psalm 34:18, Isaiah 53:5, Mark 4:39, John 3:16, Romans 5:8, Ephesians 1:7, Colossians 1:20, Hebrews 9:22, 1 Peter 1:18-19, 1 John 1:7

Topics: "Atonement", "Grace"

Description

Andrew Bonar emphasizes the necessity of trials and tribulations in life, using the metaphor of Christ calming the storm on the Lake of Galilee to illustrate how His atoning blood brings peace to troubled consciences. He points out that Christ required a guilty sinner to demonstrate the transformative power of atonement and the depth of His grace. Bonar encourages believers to recognize their need for Christ's intervention in their lives, especially in moments of distress and guilt.

Transcript

"Christ needed the storm on the Lake of Galilee that He might show how His single word could quiet it. He needed a troubled conscience that He might show how His atoning blood could calm and quiet it. And He needed a great and guilty sinner in order to show the power of the atonement and the riches of His grace."
