

Waiting On God for His Promises

by Anton Bosch

This sermon addresses the prevalent issue in modern Christianity where there is a focus on 'name it and claim it' gospel, advocating for manipulating God's promises through dishonest means if they are not fulfilled. In contrast, the message emphasizes the importance of waiting on God like Abraham did, especially for spiritual promises rather than material gains, even if they have not been realized after many years.

Scripture: Psalm 27:14, Isaiah 40:31, Hebrews 6:15, Romans 8:25

Topics: "Faithful Waiting", "Integrity in Faith"

Description

This sermon addresses the prevalent issue in modern Christianity where there is a focus on 'name it and claim it' gospel, advocating for manipulating God's promises through dishonest means if they are not fulfilled. In contrast, the message emphasizes the importance of waiting on God like Abraham did, especially for spiritual promises rather than material gains, even if they have not been realized after many years.

Transcript

The problem that we have in Christianity today is that most of the modern gospel says that you need to name it and claim it, and you need to grab hold of God's promises, and if it doesn't come through, you need to cheat, and crook, and lie, and do whatever you need to do to make those promises fulfilled. Abraham says, no, I'm going to just wait for God. And folk, we may have promises in our lives, and I'm not so concerned about material things, about a house, or a Bentley, or whatever, but about spiritual things.

There are spiritual promises that I'm waiting for in my own life that have not been fulfilled after 50 years of preaching, but I'm trusting God that God will fulfill those.
