Description

Arthur Vess preaches on the significance of surrendering to God as the great center and culmination of Bible truth and doctrine. He emphasizes the reasonableness of coming to God for forgiveness and restoration, quoting Isaiah 1:18 to illustrate the transformation from scarlet sins to white as snow. Vess connects surrender to the climax of Calvary, the divine philosophy of the ages, and the essence of all sound doctrine, showing how it is both demanded by the fall and provided in the atonement through Jesus' sacrifice. He challenges listeners to embrace surrender as a foundational truth that must be integrated into every system of doctrine to remain faithful to God and His Word.

Transcript

Preach it logically and theologically, as the great center and culmination of Bible truth and doctrine. It is the most reasonable thing in the world. "Come now and let us reason together, Though your sins be as scarlet they shall be as white as snow." Show how it is the climax of Calvary, the divine philosophy of the ages. Preach it in relation to all the other doctrines of the Scriptures. As the essence of all "Sound Doctrine." Show how that it is demanded by the fall and provided in the atonement, "Wherefore Jesus, also that he might sanctify the people with his own blood, suffered without the gate.

Let us therefore, go with him without the camp, bearing his reproach, for here we have no continuing city, but we seek one to come."

Show how that every system of doctrine must recognize it or be untrue to God and His Bible.
