

Love Expressed in Obedience

by A.W. Tozer

---

The true test of love is our obedience to Christ's commandments, and many are denying the Word of God by rejecting or interpreting His words in a way that conforms to their theories.

Topics: "Faith in Action", "Love and Obedience"

Description

A.W. Tozer emphasizes that love for Christ is intrinsically linked to obedience to His commandments, asserting that true love is demonstrated through our willingness to follow His teachings. He critiques the contemporary evangelical perspective that downplays the significance of Christ's commandments, warning that such views can lead to a rejection of the Word of God. Tozer calls for a reevaluation of how believers perceive their relationship with Christ, urging them to recognize that obedience is a vital expression of love. He highlights the importance of adhering to Christ's teachings as a measure of genuine faith.

Transcript

Our Lord told His disciples that love and obedience were organically united, that the keeping of His sayings would prove that we loved Him and the failure or refusal to keep them would prove that we did not. This is the true test of love, and we will be wise to face up to it. The commandments of Christ occupy in the New Testament a place of importance that they do not have in current evangelical thought. The idea that our relation to Christ is revealed by our attitude to His commandments is now considered legalistic by many influential Bible teachers, and the plain words of our Lord are rejected outright or interpreted in a manner to make them conform to theories ostensibly based upon the epistles of Paul. Thus the Word of God is denied as boldly by evangelicals as by admitted modernists.
