Description

A.W. Tozer emphasizes that the world is lost and confused, lacking direction and purpose, which is why Jesus came to offer salvation. He calls for a radical adjustment to the Jesus way, urging believers to reject worldly philosophies and fully trust in Christ. This transformation requires a complete renunciation of societal norms and a commitment to a new way of life that many find challenging. Tozer highlights that while people desire comfort and peace, they often shy away from the revolutionary change that true discipleship demands. Ultimately, he encourages a bold and uncompromising faith in Jesus as the only path to true fulfillment.

Transcript

. . . The truth is that the world does not know where it is going; it has not found life's summum bonum; it is not qualified as a model for the members of society to follow. It is instead puzzled, frightened and frustrated. Generation follows generation into an uncertain future, completely beaten, disappointed and sick at heart.

It was to this kind of world that Jesus came, to save it from itself. He died for its sins and now lives for the salvation of all who will repudiate it, deny the validity of its philosophies and put their trust wholly in the Lord Jesus Christ.

Those who do this no longer seek to be adjusted to society. They have renounced this world and have chosen a new model after which to pattern their lives. This is the aspect of the Christian life that most people do not like. They want comfort, blessing and peace, but they recoil from this radical, revolutionary break with the world. To follow Christ in this rough and thorough-going way is too much for them.
