Description

This sermon emphasizes the immense value and wealth of biblical figures like Abraham, David, and Solomon, drawing parallels to modern-day billionaires. Transcript

According to our standard of gold and silver, Abraham was worth a billion and a half dollars. David was worth three billion. Solomon was worth five billion.

Solomon could have hired Andrew Carnegie for a butler, J. Pierpont Moore to cut his lawn, and Andrew Mellon for a shopper, and John Dee to black his boots. America needs a tidal wave of the old-time religion. America needs to be taken down to God's bathhouse and behold, a turn on her, and the time isn't far distant when the wheels of God's judgment are going to go sweeping through this old God-hating world, and I want to take a pledge in this audience to join me in a pledge that you will never rest until this old God-hating, Christ-hating, whiskey-soaked, Sabbath-breaking, blaspheming, infidel, bootlegging old world is bound to the cross of Jesus Christ by the golden chains of love.
