

Abundantly Able

by Charles E. Cowman

God is abundantly able to fulfill His promises, and our limitations are the only constraints to His blessings.

Scripture: Ephesians 3:20

Topics: "Faith And Trust", "Gods Sovereignty"

Description

Charles E. Cowman emphasizes the unwavering faith of Abraham in God's promises, highlighting how Abraham's focus was on the Almighty One rather than his own limitations. Abraham's unyielding belief in God's abundant ability to fulfill His promises led him to grow stronger in faith despite the challenges, glorifying God through his unwavering trust. Cowman urges believers to expand their expectations and prayers, recognizing God's boundless resources and His desire to exceed our limited human understanding.

Transcript

"And being absolutely certain that whatever promise He is bound by, He is able to make good" (Rom. 4:20).

We are told that Abraham could look at his own body and consider it as good as dead without being discouraged, because he was not looking at himself but at the Almighty One.

He did not stagger at the promise, but stood straight up unbending beneath his mighty load of blessing; and instead of growing weak he waxed strong in the faith, grew more robust, the more difficulties became apparent, glorifying God through His very sufficiency and being "fully persuaded" (as the Greek expresses it) "that he who had promised was," not merely able, but as it literally means "abundantly able," munificently able, able with an infinite surplus of resources, infinitely able "to perform."

He is the God of boundless resources. The only limit is in us. Our asking, our thinking, our praying are too small; our expectations are too limited. He is trying to lift us up to a higher conception, and lure us on to a mightier expectation and appropriation. Oh, shall we put Him in derision? There is no limit to what we may ask and expect of our glorious El-Shaddai; and there is but one measure here given for His blessing, and that is "according to the power that worketh in us." --A. B. Simpson

"Climb to the treasure house of blessing on the ladder made of divine promises. By a promise as by a key open the door to the riches of God's grace and favor."
