

(Audio Sermon Clip) The Fragrance of Jesus

by David Wilkerson

This sermon emphasizes that the pressures in life can bring out the fragrance of Jesus in us, but this only happens when we spend time in His presence and allow His light to shine on us. It encourages a perspective shift where challenges become sweet moments of rest, peace, and joy in the Holy Spirit. The message calls for the breath of God to breathe on us, transforming us to emanate the beauty and sweet aroma of Jesus, especially when we are squeezed or pressed.

Scripture: 2 Corinthians 2:15, Psalm 34:8, John 15:4, 2 Corinthians 4:7

Topics: "Transformation through Trials", "The Fragrance of Christ"

Transcript

I want to know that any pressure that comes to my life now is going to bring the fragrance of Jesus out of me. And that only comes by sitting in his presence with the light. Hallelujah.

It should not be a burden, it should be a sweet moment. It should be a time, Lord, of rest and peace and joy in the Holy Ghost. Oh, breath of God, breath of the Holy Ghost, come and breathe on this garden tonight.

Be unto you as Jesus was to you, Father, a sweet-smelling savor, the beauty of Jesus to be emanating from us. Hallelujah. Hallelujah.

The more we're squeezed, the more we're pressed, the more fragrance will come out. Let the fragrance of Jesus pour forth from our lips and from our hearts. Jesus, I need to spend more time with you so that I can take in more of your fragrance, so that when I'm pressed, I'll have your fragrance come forth.

And I really want to show the fragrance of Jesus.
