

I Will Veil Myself in You

by David Wilkerson

---

David Wilkerson emphasizes the importance of veiling oneself in God's character and promises to restore faith and hope.

Duration: 4:01

Scripture: Psalm 17:6

Topics: "Faith Renewal", "Spiritual Revival"

---

Description

This sermon emphasizes the need for those who have backslidden or grown cold in their faith to return to God. It highlights the importance of basing our faith on God's character and promises rather than emotions or others' testimonies. The speaker encourages veiling oneself in God, trusting in His faithfulness, righteousness, and promises, and surrendering completely to His mercy and grace.

---

Transcript

Lord, only you can speak to the depths of the soul. I don't know who this is for, but Lord, I'm going to speak to those who have backslidden, to those, oh Lord, who have been growing cold and indifferent to the call of God and the things of Christ. Oh God, come and speak.

God says, the word that I've sent to you, I didn't send it out to be void, but the word I've given to you is you're going to accomplish the very thing I said it would. Lord, I flee to you to hide me. And folks, the original of that says, I will veil myself in you.

Now you think about it. You see, our faith now can't be based on emotion. Our faith cannot be based on just the testimonies of others who've been delivered.

They can't, they can't be cliches. It can't be just a shout. We have to have a foundation for the faith that we're going to need.

And this has to be laying hold of God's own claims of who he is. This whole thing starts out right here. Oh, hear my prayer, Lord.

Give my supplication in your faithfulness. Answer me and in your righteousness. And here's the challenge.

God, here's the basis upon which I come to you. Not what I've heard in the past about people, but here's what you told me you are. You said that you are faithful, that you are just, that you are holy.

You cannot lie. You can't be God if you aren't faithful. You said you're long-suffering.

You said you're the God of peace. You said you're the God of my strength. Now I'm coming to you.

I'm going to lift my hands to you. I'm going to believe what you said about yourself. And I am coming on the merits of nothing I have done, no righteousness of my own, but on the promise of God, what you told me.

Remember the word unto your servant, which you have caused me to hope in. This is my comfort in my affliction. For you have now quickened me.

How is he quickened? Lord God, I have lifted my hands to you. I have trusted you. I have claimed your promises.

You are who you said you are. And from now on, from this day on, I'm going to veil myself in you. I'm going to cut myself off from all confidence in my flesh or in people or anyone else.

I'm going to throw myself at your mercy, your grace, your power, your glory. And I'm veiling myself in Christ.

---

Video: <https://sermonindex2.b-cdn.net/9WIVYxhm8pw.mp4>

Source: <https://sermonindex.net/speakers/david-wilkerson/i-will-veil-myself-in-you/>

Grow in Your Walk with Christ

---

Listen and read messages that will stir your heart for Christ and point you to deeper repentance and devotion.

- 50,000+ Sermons from speakers past and present
- 3,900+ Classic Christian Books freely readable online
- 1,200+ Bible Translations and Commentaries
- Over 450k forum posts — Join our vibrant online Christian forum

www.sermonindex.net