

Overcoming Sin Is God's Promise in New Covenant

by David Wilkerson

This sermon delves into the profound question of why God would desire to transform the heart of someone who seems resistant, and why He would inscribe His laws on the heart of those who may not initially be willing to obey. It is a message for those who earnestly seek to obey God, hunger for righteousness, and cry out to please Him. The speaker shares their lifelong desire to walk in God's righteousness, emphasizing the importance of genuine obedience. The assurance is given that God hears the cries of His faithful ones, remembers His covenant, and will ultimately deliver them.

Scripture: Ezekiel 36:26, Jeremiah 31:33, Psalm 37:4, Psalm 34:17, Psalm 145:18

Topics: "Transformation of the Heart", "God's Faithfulness in Obedience"

Transcript

Why would God want to put a new heart in a man who doesn't want it? Why would God write his laws on somebody's heart not willing to obey them? This is for those who want to obey God and have been hungering and thirsting and crying. Folks, that's been my cry all my life, only to please him and to walk in his righteousness. And if that's your cry, God's going to hear that sighing and crying, and he's going to come remember his covenant and deliver you.

He said, I'll be merciful to your sins, but why would he be merciful to those who have no intention of departing from their sins?
