

Sympathy in Suffering

by David Wilkerson

David Wilkerson's sermon emphasizes the importance of understanding suffering as a means of spiritual growth and the empathy of Christ in our trials.

Scripture: Psalm 34:19, John 16:33, Philippians 3:10, 1 Thessalonians 3:3-4, Hebrews 4:15

Topics: "Sympathy in Suffering", "Divine Purpose in Trials"

Description

David Wilkerson emphasizes the 'Holy Ghost school of sympathy,' where tested saints learn through suffering and trials. He highlights that Jesus, who experienced profound rejection and pain, understands our struggles and sympathizes with our weaknesses. The sermon reassures believers that suffering has a divine purpose and is part of the Christian journey, as Paul noted in his letters. Wilkerson encourages the faithful to accept their afflictions as part of God's plan, reminding them that God delivers the righteous from their troubles. Ultimately, he calls for hope, as Jesus has overcome the world, and through Him, we can find strength in our tribulations.

Transcript

There is a "Holy Ghost school of sympathy" that consists of tested saints who have suffered greatly, enduring temptation, trials and mistreatment. The Bible speaks of "the fellowship of His sufferings" (Philippians 3:10) -- a fellowship of shared suffering. Jesus founded this school and he proved that it is possible to endure every sort of hardship and graduate as an overcomer.

Jesus was rejected, distrusted, abused, mocked, falsely accused. He knew what it was like to be lonely, hungry, poor, unloved, shamed, slandered, taunted; he was called a liar, a fraud, a false prophet. His own family misunderstood him; his most trusted friends lost faith in him; his own disciples forsook him and fled; and, finally, he was spat upon, mocked, and murdered.

Jesus certainly sympathizes with all our hurt and suffering because he went through it all himself. "For we do not have a High Priest who cannot sympathize with our weaknesses, but was in all points tempted as we are, yet without sin" (Hebrews 4:15).

You may love Jesus now more than ever before, but you also may be going through hurts and trials. You can be very sure that God has a divine purpose behind every one. The Jews believed that if God was pleased with you, you would always be blessed and never suffer. Because of this, Paul did not want converts to be confused by the troubles that swarmed around him. Reports of his sufferings spread through the churches so he wrote, "No one should be shaken by these afflictions; for you yourselves know that we are appointed to this. For, in fact, we told you before when we were with you that we would suffer tribulation" (1 Thessalonians 3:3-4).

It is not suffering in itself that teaches us; rather, it is understanding and accepting that it is from his hand, for his purposes, for our good. Remember, God's Word says, "Many are the afflictions of the righteous, but the Lord delivers him out of them all" (Psalm 34:19).

Do not be surprised when you suffer! But be assured that God proves himself faithful and he always produces life out of death. Jesus said, "In the world you will have tribulation; but be of good cheer, I have overcome the world" (John 16:33).

Source: <https://sermonindex.net/speakers/david-wilkerson/sympathy-in-suffering/>

Grow in Your Walk with Christ

Listen and read messages that will stir your heart for Christ and point you to deeper repentance and devotion.

- 50,000+ Sermons from speakers past and present
- 3,900+ Classic Christian Books freely readable online
- 1,200+ Bible Translations and Commentaries
- Over 450k forum posts — Join our vibrant online Christian forum

www.sermonindex.net