

Why is Genuine Revival Important for the Church in our Generation■

by Dean Taylor

This sermon emphasizes the significance of genuine revival, distinguishing it from fake revivals that lack authenticity. Genuine revival is crucial as it redirects focus back to Jesus Christ and His purposes for the earth. The message underscores the vital role of the local church in revival, world missions, and God's work, drawing from historical revivals where the local church experienced growth and real-life transformations. Genuine revival aligns believers with the teachings and ideals of Jesus, enriches the local church, and brings about impactful life changes.

Scripture: 2 Chronicles 7:14, Acts 2:42, James 4:8, Matthew 28:19, Ephesians 4:11

Topics: "Genuine Revival", "Role of the Local Church"

Genuine revival. You know, I've been a student of revival for years, and you gave the qualification a genuine revival. And so I think what we're coming against, by even using that word, is that there's a lot of things that are fake revivals.

There's a lot of things that people get excited about, a lot of energy, a lot of things, but to have real, genuine revival is so vitally important. It brings us back to the person of Jesus Christ. It brings us back to his purposes for the earth.

You also brought up the idea of the importance for the church in our generation. You know, many times, often in this, today, we're losing the idea of the place of the local church in revival, in world missions, in God's work on this earth. And when you study historic revival, genuine revival, the local church was blessed.

The local church grew, and you see real life changes. And so I believe that genuine revival is important because genuine revival will bring us back to the teachings of Jesus, his ideas for humanity. It'll bless the local church, and it'll change lives.

And this is what we pray for.
