

Epistle 164

by George Fox

The sermon emphasizes the importance of gathering together as believers in the power of the Lord God, being established in the life and power of God, and being a blessing to others.

Scripture: Matthew 18:20, 2 Corinthians 2:15, Colossians 1:18, Hebrews 2:14, Hebrews 10:24-25, 1 John 3:8

Topics: "Community in Christ", "Faith and Worship"

Description

George Fox emphasizes the importance of gathering in the power of the Lord, encouraging believers to meet regularly and provoke one another to love and good works. He stresses that true edification, life, and peace come from being united in Christ, who is the head of the church and the source of eternal life. Fox urges the community to be established in their faith, demonstrating a steadfastness that reflects God's glory and serves as a blessing to others. He reassures them that their worship and truth are already found in Christ, who overcomes all that causes suffering. Ultimately, he calls for a deep connection with the Lord, who reigns above all and provides life everlasting.

Transcript

My dear friends,--Keep your meetings in the power of the Lord God, in which ye may all feel life eternal among you. And do not forsake the assembling of yourselves together [Heb 10:25], but provoke one another to love [Heb 10:24], in which is edification, life, peace, truth, and dominion; in which ye may feel the blessing of God covering you, ye dwelling in the same. And so, meet together in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ [Mat 18:20], whose gathering is above the gatherings of the sons and daughters of Adam in the fall, and will stand when they are all gone And so, in that the Lord God Almighty preserve you all to his glory; that to the Lord God ye may be a blessing in your generation, and a good savour to God [2 Cor 2:15], and in the hearts of all people.

That none may say, ye are an unstayed, unestablished, or a fickle people, and have your religion, truth, and worship to seek; but that ye have it already, and are established in the life and power of God, and in his worship, church, and religion, which Christ is the head and the life of [Col 1:18], (which destroyeth the devil and his works [Heb 2:14/1 Jn 3:8],) who is the pasture of life, who was before death was. And so, feel him set over all that, which makes to suffer, who was before it was, and will remain when it is gone: and so, feel the top-stone over all laid, and Christ to reign.

G. F.

Source: <https://sermonindex.net/speakers/george-fox/epistle-164/>

Grow in Your Walk with Christ

Listen and read messages that will stir your heart for Christ and point you to deeper repentance and devotion.

- 50,000+ Sermons from speakers past and present
- 3,900+ Classic Christian Books freely readable online
- 1,200+ Bible Translations and Commentaries
- Over 450k forum posts — Join our vibrant online Christian forum

www.sermonindex.net