Description

H.J. Vine preaches about finding peace in God's presence amidst the darkness and perils of the world, where our minds are focused on Him, leading to the use of holy themes in our speech and the knowledge of grace and truth through Jesus' sacrifice. The sermon emphasizes the transformation from heaviness and mourning to experiencing the joy and anointing from above, filling our souls with the glories of our Savior and offering fragrant praises to God. It highlights the immeasurable love we receive from God, prompting us to respond with hearts that treasure the divine wonders and eagerly await the Home prepared for us in His radiant presence, where our love overflows in inspired songs of praise.

Transcript

From the darkness and the perils
Of a world by Satan swayed
Peace we find in God's own presence,
Where our minds on Him are stayed;
Leaving thoughts that once distressed us,
Holy themes our tongues employ;
Grace and truth are known in Jesus,
By Whose blood we are brought nigh.
Gone the heaviness and mourning,
Now the Unction from on high,

With our Saviour's peerless glories
Fills our souls with deepening joy;
Thence ascending sweetest incense,
Fragrant offerings to His praise,
Joyful in His presence, bless we
God our Father for His grace.
Loved with love none e'er can measure.
As the Father loves the Son,
We respond from hearts that treasure
Wonders love Divine has done;
And the Saviour comes to take us
To the Home prepared above,
Where, in presence of His radiance,
Song outflows inspired by love.
