

Run Your Race And Be Obedient, It's Very Simple

by Jackie Pullinger

This sermon emphasizes the simplicity of our calling as Christians, focusing on running our race, being obedient, loving people, and engaging in spiritual warfare to bring healing and deliverance. It highlights the unnecessary burden of trying to prove our calling and encourages a straightforward approach to fulfilling God's purpose for our lives.

Scripture: Hebrews 12:1, 1 John 5:3, Mark 16:17, 2 Corinthians 10:3

Topics: "Obedience", "Spiritual Warfare"

Transcript

And I'm so sorry if you're young, because it's harder for you. Where you think, we think, we've got to come up with something to prove our calling. We don't have to come up with anything at all except to run our race and be obedient, and love people, and heal them, and cast out demons along the way.

That's it. That's all. It's very simple.
