

August 10. 1678. God in Nature.

by Jane Lead

The sermon emphasizes the need to strive for spiritual growth by putting away earthly life and rising to the pure center deep to experience the Water of Life and manifest the inherent Life of Christ.

Scripture: Matthew 6:33, John 4:14, Romans 8:11, 1 Corinthians 15:49, Colossians 3:2

Topics: "Spiritual Renewal", "Inner Transformation"

Description

Jane Lead preaches about the importance of striving with all internal power to put away earthly life, in order to experience the rising essences from the pure center deep within. By ceasing from the earthly life, one can allow the Water of Life to flow in forcefully, leading to the essential rising of God in nature. This enables the Spirit of Power to make known the inherent life of Christ, preparing for the manifestation of His mighty Kingdom.

Transcript

The Word of Counsel, which came to me this Morning was this, Strive with all Internal Power of Might to put away the Earthly Life. The which, if thou canst once but come to cease from, when thou wilt know those rising Essences from the pure Center deep, that may cause through the fiery thirst, the Water of Life so forcibly to flow in: for the essential rising of God in Nature. That may go forth again in all Spirit of Power, to make known the inherent Life of Christ, as forerunning the coming of his Mighty Kingdom into Manifestation.
