

July 30. 1678.

by Jane Lead

The sermon calls believers to depart from spiritual darkness and seek the safety and stability of the Lamb's Land.

Scripture: Psalm 27:5, Psalm 101:3, Proverbs 3:23, Hebrews 11:10

Topics: "Spiritual Pilgrimage", "Eternal Home"

Description

Jane Lead preaches about the call to move away from polluted places and strive to behold the glory of the promised land for those who belong to the Lamb. She emphasizes the importance of fearing to tread in unstable places and instead recognizing our true home prepared for us, where we can walk in stability without fear or danger.

Transcript

The Word spake, Move far away from this Polluted place: And they who are the Lamb's true Mates, strive hard to come to view the Glory of your own Land. Be afraid to set your Foot where is no bottom-Foundation; but know your true Habitation is elsewhere prepared; where are Stable-walkings without cause of Fear or Jeopardy.
