

God Moving in Houston in 1997

by John Follette

The sermon emphasizes the importance of experiencing God over having doctrinal ideas about Him.

Scripture: Psalm 139:7, Jeremiah 29:13, John 4:24, Acts 17:27

Topics: "Spiritual Encounters", "Gods Nature"

Description

John Follette emphasizes the spiritual essence of God, highlighting that although God can manifest in a physical form, His true nature is Spirit, omnipresent and not limited by physical boundaries. He encourages experiencing God rather than just defining Him doctrinally, emphasizing the importance of personal encounters to truly understand His reality.

Transcript

If God wants to appear in a body, He can, but in essence He is Spirit; not a spirit, but He is Spirit. The article is not in the original at all. He is Spirit. That is why He is present everywhere.

I don't define God: I experience Him. I can have a doctrinal idea of God, but afterward I find the reality when I come-in touch with HIM.
