Description

This sermon challenges the modern Church to reflect on the early Christians who, despite lacking grand resources or platforms, were able to turn the world upside down with their faith and dedication. The speaker expresses disappointment in the current state of the Church, suggesting that it falls short of the standards set by the early believers. There is a call to reexamine priorities, moving away from superficial joy and entertainment towards a deeper, more impactful faith that truly honors God.

Transcript

They didn't have stately buildings, they didn't have paid evangelists, they didn't have a lot of money, they didn't have organization, they couldn't get on TV and beg, but I'll tell you what they did, they turned the world upside down! And I'm embarrassed to be part of the Church of Jesus today because I believe it's an embarrassment to a holy God. Most of our joy is clapping our hands and having a good time and then afterwards we're talking all the drivel of the world.
