Description

This sermon emphasizes the danger of trying to modernize or improve upon the ways of God, likening it to the mistake of trying to steady the Ark of God with human efforts. It highlights the importance of embracing traditional, foundational truths like baptism and old-fashioned hellfire preaching, as they carry the power and presence of God. Obedience to God's ways leads to success and blessings.

Transcript

All he did was try to steady the Ark of God. Oh, mercy, how we're trying to steady the Ark of God these days. We want to do some new thing.

We wouldn't just steady it, we'd paint it. We'd paint it. We'd put a musical box inside of it.

We'd put the priest in some new garments. We'd try and make it more acceptable. You know, there's nothing this generation needs more than a baptism and old-fashioned hellfire preaching.

I'm sure of that. The power and the presence of God were resting on that tabernacle. And while they were obedient, they had success.
