

Take It to the Lord

by Mary Wilder Tileston

The sermon encourages listeners to cast their care on God, trusting in His constant care and goodness.

Scripture: Psalm 55:22, Proverbs 3:5, Matthew 11:28, Philippians 4:6, 1 Peter 5:7

Topics: "Prayer Life", "Faith Trust"

Description

Mary Wilder Tileston preaches about the gentle commands of God and the importance of casting all our burdens upon Him, trusting in His constant care. She emphasizes the power of communing with the Lord in secret with all that is in our hearts, allowing Him to bear our troubles. Tileston highlights the significance of unloading our hearts through prayer, leaving our desires with God to be free from further disquieting care.

Transcript

Casting all your care upon Him; for He careth for you.

1 PETER 5:7

HOW gentle God's commands!

How kind His precepts are!

Come, cast your burdens on the Lord,

And trust His constant care.

His goodness stands approved

Down to the present day;

I'll drop my burden at His feet,

And bear a song away.

PHILIP DODDRIDGE

SHE was not accustomed in these days to meet troubles, small or great, with the small stock of strength her mind or body could afford. She had acquired, by long habit, the power of putting them from her until she could take them into the presence of her Lord, and there, in secret, commune with Him of all that was in her heart.

SARAH W. STEPHEN

The Lord calls for our burdens, would not have us wrestle with them ourselves, but roll them over on Him. Now, the desires that are breathed forth in prayer are, as it were, the very unloading of the heart; each request that goes forth, carries out somewhat of the burden with it, and lays it on God. Tell Him what are your desires, and leave them there with Him, and so you are sure to be rid of all further disquieting care of them.
