

Putting Everything On The Altar

by Randy Krahn

This sermon emphasizes the necessity of complete surrender to God, using the analogy of offering a full sacrifice on the altar. It highlights the importance of giving all aspects of our lives to God, not just a portion, and the need to die to self and worldly desires in order to truly love and serve God. The message warns against being divided in our devotion, as it can lead to following false teachings and straying from the true Gospel.

Scripture: Romans 12:1, Galatians 2:20, 1 John 2:15, Matthew 6:24, 2 Corinthians 11:4, James 4:4

Topics: "Complete Surrender", "Devotion to God"

Transcript

You've got to have the power of the Holy Spirit come in your life, then all the parts got to be on the altar. You can't just put half a bullock on the altar, have everything perfect, put all the stones in order, put your wood there, put half the bull on there, and then grab this word and start washing with seven or twelve buckets of water in the Old Testament until the whole sacrifice is washed and wait for the fire to come. It will never come.

Until you say, okay Lord, then have all of me. I'm not going to only give you half my life. I'm not going to say half for you, half for me.

No, if we've been buried with Him into baptism unto His death, then that's the end of you. That has to be the end of your life in this world. We can't say we love God and we love the world.

That's when you're going to call fire down from heaven and you're going to lead people astray after another gospel and a different Jesus. We have to stay yielded.
