

The Call To Be Separate Unto God

by Randy Krahn

This sermon emphasizes the call to separate from ungodly influences, including friends who do not believe in Jesus, and to instead walk with those who desire to follow God. It highlights the need to make a conscious decision to change direction and associate with people who seek transformation. By coming out from the world and being separate, God promises to receive and adopt us as His own, offering a relationship as His sons and daughters.

Scripture: 2 Corinthians 6:17, 2 Corinthians 6:18, 2 Corinthians 6:14, 2 Corinthians 7:1

Topics: "Separation from Ungodly Influences", "Embracing Godly Relationships"

Transcript

He calls us in 2 Corinthians 6, come out from among them and be separate. Who's them? Your ungodly friends that don't believe in Jesus. They're church-going people, some of them, but they don't believe just like we didn't believe.

But you cannot hang out with them anymore. You have to say, no, I'm going to have a change of direction. I am now going to walk with people who want to follow God.

They might not be perfect people, but they are people who desire to change, and I'm going to associate with them. That is coming out from among them, the world, and being separate. Do not touch what is unclean, and I will receive you.

And then there's a promise. If you come out from among the world, if you don't touch what is unclean, I'm going to receive you. I'll be a father to you, and you shall be my sons and daughters, says the Lord Almighty.

That is in 2 Corinthians 6. Do not be unequally yoked. From chapter 14 right into chapter 7.
