

You Can Watch A 3 Hour Super Bowl but You Can't Worship for 3 Hours■

by Shane Idleman

This sermon emphasizes that encountering the fire of God results in boldness, even if it makes us appear different to others. It challenges the congregation to prioritize spending time at the altar, allowing God to work in their hearts rather than focusing on external actions. The message highlights the importance of genuine worship and the transformation that occurs when we allow God to move in our lives.

Scripture: Acts 4:13, Psalm 51:10, John 4:23, Romans 12:1

Topics: "Boldness in Faith", "Transformation through Worship"

Transcript

When the fire comes, its byproduct is boldness. And now you might look a little weird on the altar. You know, if you're here for an hour, you're at the altar for an hour, what in the world do you do up there? It's not what I do, it's what God does in my heart.

You can watch a three-hour Super Bowl, but you can't worship for three hours?
