

God Does Anything He Wants

by Steve Hill

This sermon emphasizes the sovereignty and power of God, illustrating how He has the authority to judge and act as He sees fit, even to the extent of wiping out entire families due to sin, unbelief, and division. It challenges listeners to recognize God's ultimate authority and the consequences of being lukewarm or divided in their faith.

Scripture: Genesis 6:5, Numbers 16:31, Matthew 12:30, Revelation 3:16, Hebrews 10:31

Topics: "God's Sovereignty", "Consequences of Division in Faith"

Transcript

Maybe, just maybe, He'll let you die in your sins. God would never do that. Friend, it's obvious you have a very, very low knowledge of God.

If you'll read from Genesis to Revelation, God does anything He wants. See, God has done stuff like this. He's just opened up the earth at times, just swallowed whole families up.

Children, puppies, cats, mama, grandma, just kill them all. Why? Because that's what He wanted to do at that particular time. He just decided to kill them all because there's too much sin in the camp.

There's too much unbelief. There was too much division. There's too many people that wanted to have one hand in His and one hand in the devil.

And He was saying, those of you in the middle, the earth is going to open up. I'm going to eat you alive because I don't want a divided people.
