

Sitting at the Table With King Jesus

by Thomas Brooks

Sitting at the table with King Jesus represents the sweetest friendship and fellowship with Him, where His presence awakens and actuates our graces.

Scripture: Song of Solomon 1:12, Malachi 4:2, Matthew 5:16, John 15:5, 2 Corinthians 2:15, Galatians 5:22-23, Ephesians 2:6, Philippians 1:11, Colossians 1:10, 1 Peter 2:9

Topics: "Spiritual Growth", "Fellowship with Christ"

Description

Thomas Brooks emphasizes the profound impact of being in the presence of King Jesus, illustrating that His companionship enhances our spiritual graces, likened to a perfume that spreads its fragrance. He explains that when we sit at the table with Christ, we experience deep friendship and fellowship, which invigorates our faith and other virtues. Just as sunlight causes flowers to bloom, the presence of Christ brings our graces to life, allowing them to flourish and be fully realized.

Transcript

"While the King was at His table, my perfume spread its fragrance." Song of Songs 1:12

That is, let Jesus Christ be but present with us, and then our graces, which are compared to perfume, will send forth its fragrance. Sitting at the table with King Jesus intimates the sweetest friendship and fellowship with Him.

"My perfume spread its fragrance," that is, my faith

is actuated, and all my other graces are exercised and increased. Christ's presence puts life into all our graces.

If the sun shines upon the flower--how soon does the flower open. Just so, when the Sun of righteousness does but shine upon a Christian's graces--how do they open and act!
