by Thomas Brooks

Scripture: Matthew 23:14, Luke 12:47

Topics: "Hypocrisy", "Judgment"

Description

Thomas Brooks warns about the severe consequences of hypocrisy, emphasizing that those who pretend to be righteous while exploiting others, like the scribes and Pharisees, will face greater damnation. He illustrates that the torments of hypocrites in hell are unparalleled, as their counterfeit sanctity leads to double iniquity. Brooks stresses that justice demands that hypocrites endure double torment for their deceitful actions.

Transcript

"Woe unto you, scribes, Pharisees, and hypocrites, for you devour widows' houses, and for a pretense make long prayers; therefore you shall receive the greater damnation." Matthew 23:14

Hypocrites shall be double damned! The hottest and the darkest place in hell is reserved for them!

For number and weight, there are no torments in hell, compared to the torments of hypocrites. Counterfeit sanctity is double iniquity--and therefore it is but justice that the hypocrite should have double torment.
