

Uncovered and Laid Bare

by Thomas Brooks

The sermon emphasizes the importance of acknowledging and repenting of our sins, as God sees all and will one day hold us accountable.

Scripture: Psalm 139:1, Hebrews 4:13

Topics: "Accountability to God", "Sin"

Description

Thomas Brooks emphasizes the reality of human sinfulness and the shame that many Christians feel about their hidden sins. He reflects on how, if their faults were publicly displayed, they would be embarrassed and ashamed. Brooks reminds the congregation that nothing is hidden from God, and we will all have to give an account of our actions. The sermon calls for self-examination and repentance, urging believers to acknowledge their shortcomings before God.

Transcript

Ah! how many Christians are there who would blush and be ashamed to walk in the streets, should but their infirmities, enormities, and wickednesses be written on their foreheads, or known to others!

There are many sins which they have fallen into since conversion, which, should they be known to the world, would make themselves to stench in the nostrils of all who know them.

"Nothing in all creation is hidden from God's sight.

Everything is uncovered and laid bare before the eyes of Him to whom we must give account." Hebrews 4:13
