

Whom God Loves Once

by Thomas Brooks

God's love for us is everlasting and unchangeable, and those He loves once, He loves forever.

Scripture: Jeremiah 31:3, John 13:1, Romans 8:38

Topics: "God's Love", "Covenant of Grace"

Description

Thomas Brooks emphasizes the profound nature of God's everlasting love, rooted in the covenant of grace. He asserts that God's love is unchangeable and freely given, highlighting that once God loves someone, that love endures forever. Brooks illustrates that God's commitment to His people is as eternal as His existence, reinforcing the assurance that those in covenant with Him are forever loved.

Transcript

"I have loved you with an everlasting love!" Jer. 31:3

O sirs! the covenant of grace is founded upon God's everlasting love, upon God's unchangeable love, upon God's free love. John 13:1, "Having loved His own who were in the world, He loved them to the end." Whom God loves once--He loves forever. God can as well cease to be--as He can cease to love those whom He has taken into covenant with Himself.
