Description

In this sermon, the speaker discusses the importance of being involved in missions and supporting missionaries. He shares personal experiences of having missionaries stay in his home and the impact it had on his family. The speaker emphasizes the need for churches to actively engage in mission work and teaches that it is a biblical principle. He also suggests that if individuals are not comfortable teaching about missions, there are resources available to help educate and train them.

Transcript

The subject then for this afternoon is the admissions on the local church, and it occurred to me that probably by Thursday here, there would be different expectations identified. You know, what did you expect to get out of this session?

I'm telling you my understanding of the subject as it's been given to me, and what I would hope to try and cover in the next hour or so.

First of all, I want to deal with the question of, and in verse 15, Paul says this, not boasting of things beyond measure, that is, in other men's labors, but in 10.15, that as your faith is increased, as your faith is increased, we, and the advance of the gospel, will he be able to end the progress of the mission, and zeal, even if they let Canadian missionaries come to a standing, who knows who might be the purpose of the flag? He is candidate, we need to think, we need to, we, and in fact, one of the last few years,
