

Love of Our Neighbour

by W.R. Inge

Practicing universal love is a hard thing, but it is rewarded with a precious and greater reward than any other commandment.

Scripture: Matthew 22:39, Luke 6:35, Romans 13:10, Galatians 5:14, 1 John 4:20

Topics: "Loving Others", "Christian Ethics"

Description

W.R. Inge preaches about the challenge of practicing universal love and loving our neighbors as ourselves, as commanded by the Lord. Despite the difficulty of this commandment, there is a greater reward attached to it than any other. While it may seem hard to follow, the precious reward that comes with obeying this commandment is worth the effort.

Transcript

IT is a hard thing to practise this universal love, and to love our neighbours as ourselves, as our Lord commanded us. But if you will understand it rightly, there is a greater reward attached to this command, than to any other. The commandment seems hard, but the reward is precious indeed. (135)
