

Having An Unmerciful Attitude Towards Others

by Zac Poonen

This sermon addresses the destructive nature of an unmerciful attitude that hinders spiritual growth. It emphasizes the need to release judgment and criticism towards others, as it acts as a brake on our spiritual journey. The message encourages individuals to let go of this attitude to experience true spiritual progress and avoid hindering the work of God in their lives.

Scripture: Matthew 7:1, James 2:13, Romans 14:13, Galatians 6:1

Description

This sermon addresses the destructive nature of an unmerciful attitude that hinders spiritual growth. It emphasizes the need to release judgment and criticism towards others, as it acts as a brake on our spiritual journey. The message encourages individuals to let go of this attitude to experience true spiritual progress and avoid hindering the work of God in their lives.

Transcript

We may not say it, but that attitude destroys our spirituality inwardly. And dear brother, sister, I want to mention this, that could be the reason why you have not grown more spiritually. Your foot has been on the brakes, and the car is moving very slowly, and that brake is this unmerciful attitude.

Get rid of it. God has not made us a judge of anybody in this church. If you're an elder, you have some responsibility to correct people.

But even an elder is not a judge.
