

Keeping Yourself From Deception (Clip)

by Zac Poonen

This sermon delves into the imagery of a tree planted by the river in Jeremiah 17:8, emphasizing the importance of being deeply rooted in God's Word and presence to bear fruit continually without fear or anxiety. It contrasts this with the deceitfulness of the human heart in verses 9 and 10, highlighting the need for God's light to reveal and guide us in truth.

Duration: 0:59

Scripture: Jeremiah 17:8, Jeremiah 17:9, Jeremiah 17:10, Proverbs 3:5, Psalm 1:3

Topics: "Spiritual Roots", "Divine Guidance"

Description

This sermon delves into the imagery of a tree planted by the river in Jeremiah 17:8, emphasizing the importance of being deeply rooted in God's Word and presence to bear fruit continually without fear or anxiety. It contrasts this with the deceitfulness of the human heart in verses 9 and 10, highlighting the need for God's light to reveal and guide us in truth.

Transcript

One, and think of what's written here, because the tree has reached out its roots to the river, it never ceases to yield fruit. So there's a lot we have seen just in one verse, in Jeremiah 17 verse 8. It reaches out to the river, to the roots to the river, and so it's not afraid, and it's always fresh, never anxious, and never stops yielding fruit. And it goes on to speak about the heart in verse 9 and 10.

The heart is more deceitful than anything else. That's another thing we have to learn. The next thing the Lord teaches us is, if you don't allow God to give you light, you can absolutely fool yourself.

Video: https://sermonindex2.b-cdn.net/sa_2xXu3rqw.mp4

Source: <https://sermonindex.net/speakers/zac-poonen/keeping-yourself-from-deception/>

Grow in Your Walk with Christ

Listen and read messages that will stir your heart for Christ and point you to deeper repentance and devotion.

- 50,000+ Sermons from speakers past and present
- 3,900+ Classic Christian Books freely readable online
- 1,200+ Bible Translations and Commentaries
- Over 450k forum posts — Join our vibrant online Christian forum

www.sermonindex.net